BELLE GLADE-PAHOKEE

THE PILOT was killed when this plane crashed south of South Bay Wednesday, December 28. The FAA is investigating the accident.

Pilot dies in airplane crash

By BRENDA BUNTING

SOUTH BAY - The Federal Aviation Administration will be trying to determine the cause of a plane crash that left a Pahokee resident dead last Wednesday, December 28.

John Edsel Collins, 34, of Albany, Georgia, was dead on arrival at Glades General Hospital in Belle Glade following the 1:20 p.m. crash of the Grumman Ag-Cat about 18 miles south of South Bay.

He was living at eight Lakeside Circle in Pahokee when the accident occurred.

Collins was piloting the crop dusting aircraft for Lee Aviation, Inc. of Belle Glade.

According to Sergeant David Estes of the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office, witnesses said Collins had just taken off with a full load of chemicals and had turned back toward the northeast to spray a field when a strong tailwind apparently caused the plane to lose airspeed.

The plane appeared to have dug one wingtip into an adjacent field before crashing into a drainage ditch about five miles east of U.S. 27. Estes said two men who were working on a tractor nearby ran to the wreckage and pulled Collins from the cockpit while the plane was burning.

The plane then slipped into the ditch and burned, according to the eyewitnesses.

Collins was taken by sheriff's helicopter to Glades General Hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Purchasing agent starts

Have desk, will travel

By JEFF BROWN

BELLE GLADE - When Stuart S. Beebe reported to work his first day as Belle Glade's purchasing agent, he packed more than his lunch. He also carried his desk with him.

The city was apparently short of desks when Beebe started so the city's newest employee brought his own.

The city is also short of office space and some employees had to be moved around to make room for the new man. Assistant Recreation Director Mike Underwood is now sharing quarters with Recreation Director Johnny Rutledge. Beebe has moved into the office Underwood used to occupy.

"We are short a desk," said City Manager W.E. "Tom" Strang, Jr. "I told him his first job was gonna be to buy a desk and a chair."

Learning on the job, so to speak. The start of the new year marks the revival of the Belle Glade city purchasing department. Beebe, 34, of West Palm Beach, assumed his duties Tuesday, January 2.

He brings several years of sales and purchasing experience to the job and, something he believes was more important in landing the job, the experience of having started a business from the ground up.

While still in college, he started an automobile shocks and mufflers business called Shufflers. He sold the business when he graduated.

He said that experience should help him re-establish the purchasing department.

Strang said Beebe's job will be more like establishing a new department than like reviving an old one.

"We never really had a real purchasing department," said Strang. "I don't think they ever really got into the type of centralized purchasing department that I want to have."

"I really can't say much about the job because I really don't know yet how Mr. Strang feels about some things," said Beebe. He said he expects to work closely with the city manager to establish the type of department Strang is seeking.

Beebe said the transition from the current situation where department heads make their own purchases to the new operation will be one of his first concerns.

"There are a lot of people who are used to doing their own purchasing," said Beebe. "Getting cooperation is going to be the first thing we got to get underway."

But even that will wait until he gets settled in and meets everyone he'll be working with, according to Beebe.

Beebe tried to stress that cooperation with other city employees would be a key part in his job's success, which can be measured in dollars saved.

"The city organization has a tremendous growth potential," said Beebe. "I can't define the job myself. Let's say it's gonna be under the direct supervision of Tommy Strang. The basic idea is to save money."

"I like purchasing because you can look down and see in dollars and cents every single day what you saved. You can justify your job every single day. I shouldn't cost the city a cent. I should pay for myself in money saved," said Beebe.

Those sentiments echo those expressed by city officials when they budgeted the position and department last summer.

Strang said then and still maintains that the city may be able to save as much as 10 percent on its purchases through centralized purchasing.

Last year, the city bought $3 million worth of merchandise. Strang said that centralized purchasing of bulk quantities could have saved the city as much as $300,000.

The plan is to purchase everything from "shovels to toilet tissue" once a year and have it delivered as the need arises," said Strang. That would prevent the city from having to store bulk amounts of supplies but would give the city any break on price for bulk purchases.

Beebe said he'll be relocating to Belle Glade as soon as he can, but will be commuting between the city and West Palm Beach every day until then.

He's the son of a retired Baptist minister and Man charged with Pahokee store burglary

PAHOKEE - Pahokee police have charged one man with burglary and are seeking two others in connection with the theft December 31 of several guns from a Pahokee store.

According to Pahokee Police Department reports, Willie Lee Christler, 19, of 58 Bethune Street in Belle Glade was charged with burglary after officers discovered him under a Pahokee home following the burglarizing of Western Auto at 126 North Lake Avenue in Pahokee.

According to the report, Officer Gary C. Burroughs was dispatched to the scene when a silent alarm at about 2:20 a.m. Saturday notified police that Western Auto was broken into.

While Burroughs was still enroute, police were notified by a witness who said he had seen three black youths break the front door window at the store, rush in and exit soon after.

The three fled south on South Lake Avenue, according to the witness, and Burroughs was notified to follow.

Apparently the three fled when they saw the police car approach and Burroughs drove around a block and marked on West Third Street.

Up With People to perform at PBJC

By JIM JONES

Few are they who have never heard of "Up With People."

Eighteen years of touring coast to coast and around the world, entertaining at Super Bowls, Carnegie Hall, and small towns have spread the group's fame far and wide.

Their longevity can be attributed to their primary reason for being: to "share openness and peace among people."

The Up With People cast will share their special brand of cheer and optimism through music with the people of Glades Monday and Tuesday, Jan. 9 and 10, in two 8 p.m. concerts at the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center in Belle Glade.

The concerts are sponsored by The Clewiston News/Herald-Observer and WSWN-Radio.

The Up With People cast clearly enjoys what they do, although there is much more to it than going on stage and singing. There is a great deal

Host families sought

While the Up With People cast is in Belle Glade Jan. 7-11, Saturday to Wednesday, it will need host families to lodge the 120 cast members. Host families are still needed for about 20 cast members.

Anyone interested in serving as a host family is asked to call Becky Bauer or April Bush at 996-5596 or 996-6426.

"Up With People has never gone into a community that didn't have enough host families," said Bauer.

of preparation and work that go into each performance.

April Bush of Thibodaux, La., and Becky Bauer of Montana City, Montana, both 22, arrived in the Glades a month prior to the performance to begin making advance arrangements for host families, a schedule of events, and publicity.

The Up With People experience is a two-way street. The cast learns from the community and vice versa. Prior to the cast arriving, they are briefed on the area, its economic base, and its cultural makeup.

The learning experience intensifies after the cast arrives. While in the Glades, the cast will help with a housing renovation project in Belle Glade, rehearse, see a film on sugar cane production, tour vegetable harvesting and sugar milling operations, rehearse, fish with cane poles in Lake Okeechobee, rehearse, and present two concerts.

It mounts up to a lot of work. Becky Bauer says cast members learn how much they are capable of achieving and how to live with 120 other cast members.

"It's a lot more work that you see on stage," said April Bush, a recent pre-law graduate of Nicholls State College in Thibodaux.

"You learn to get by on six hours of sleep seven days a week," said Bauer.

Bush said cast members are often so caught up

Freeze bad news for sugar industry

The news from South Florida sugar producers following the Christmas weekend freeze took a turn for the worse Tuesday, Jan. 3.

Five to 8 percent of the crop suffered terminal bud damage. This translates to $25 to 40 million worth of economic damage. Lost were 600,000 to one million tons of cane which would have produced 60 to 100 tons of raw sugar.

The impact of the spotty freeze, when temperatures dropped as low as 24 to 28 degrees Fahrenheit, varied from location to location over the 355,000 acres farmed by Florida Sugar Cane League members.

Initial reports indicated the freeze was not as severe as the killing freeze of Jan. 12, 1982.

Approximately 50 percent of this season's crop had already been harvested at the onslaught of the surprise freeze.

Prior to the freeze, industry spokesmen had been predicting a crop of 1.32 million tons of raw sugar. A revised crop estimate will be issued in mid-January.

Burglary arrest.

Burroughs notified Officer Mike Harlow and asked him to search the area while Burroughs remained on West Third in an effort to cut off the suspects' escape.

Harlow started searching the area beginning on Floral Lane. According to Harlow's report, he was some movement under the house located at 1784 1/2 Floral Lane and discovered Christler under the house.

Christler identified himself as Willie Lee Jones when first questioned by police, according to police reports. He said he was running because two men ran up to him while Christler was at a local store and told him to run because they were being pursued.

Christler was charged with burglary.

The burglars entered the store by smashing the front door window with a concrete block, according to police.

Once inside, they broke open a glass case containing handguns and ammunition with the concrete block and stole seven handguns.

None of the stolen property, valued at $2,100 retail, was recovered and Christler maintains he wasn't involved in the incident, according to the report.

Police department its own Santa Claus

BELLE GLADE -- Belle Glade police are their own Santa Claus, or at least they were this Christmas.

Three vehicles and two shotguns were confiscated by police in the days preceding and including the holiday, and that material may end up as police property under the Law Enforcement Trust Fund.

A pair of juvenile dove hunters made the first contribution to the police department's Christmas loot Wednesday, December 21, when they donated two shotguns.

The two juveniles were apparently hunting in the area of Airport Park when they both shot at a low flying dove and allegedly bagged a flock of basketball players at the park instead.

According to Detective Ray Swaford, Alberto Pacheco of Dade County was struck with a pellet in the chest. He was treated at Glades General Hospital in Belle Glade and released.

Vicente Guzman of 340 Canal Street in Belle Glade was treated at the park by emergency medical personnel and released.

About half a dozen other individuals were sprayed with pellets in the incident, said Swaford.

One of the two were apparently about 60 yards from the park when they discharged their weapons, said Swaford.

The two juveniles were charged with reckless display of a deadly weapon and the police confiscated their 20 gauge shotguns, one a double-barrel and the other a single-barrel.

Friday, December 25, Officers Jeff Hawkins and Leroy Carrigan added to the Christmas booty when they confiscated two cars in two separate incidents.

Carrigan was on patrol at about 3:20 a.m. when he observed two men in a car at 225 Southwest Fifth Street. When he put the spotlight on the two, he saw one of them put a package under the vehicle, according to the report.

When Carrigan approached and examined the bag, he apparently discovered 100 grams of marijuana in it. The two allegedly also had a marijuana cigarette in the vehicle.

Carrigan arrested Harry West, 32, of Arkansas and David

Griffin of Browns Avenue C Place at about 8:15 p.m. Friday on a traffic violation.

Another vehicle was seized when its occupant was arrested on a weapons charge.

Hawkins stopped Ernest Woods, Jr., 20, of 825 Southwest

Griffin of Browns Avenue C Place at about 8:15 p.m. Friday on a traffic violation.

After approaching Woods' vehicle, Hawkins saw an unlicensed .32 calibre weapon on the automobile's floorboard and arrested the individual on a weapons charge.

That vehicle was also confiscated.

The third vehicle when a police officer apprehended a man on a warrant from West Palm Beach Sunday, December 25 at 1:30 a.m.

Apparently, Edwin Liboa of 408 West Canal Street North was wanted on a failure to appear warrant for a fishing license violation.

When Liboa was given the option of parking his car, having it towed or allowing an officer drive it to another location, Liboa had Officer Sergio Longhinos drive it. Inside the car, Longhinos allegedly found a bag of cocaine on the front seat.

Liboa was arrested for possession of cocaine and his car seized.

State Road 80 caucus slated for Clewiston

A caucus of South Florida leaders to urge the four-laning of State Road 80 east to coast has been scheduled for Clewiston Friday, Jan. 27.

State legislators, county and city officials, and chambers of commerce officials interested in four-laning the dangerous highway have been invited to the meeting.

The meeting will be held at the Clewiston Inn, starting at 11 a.m.

"It is very important that all our local Chambers of Commerce be represented at this meeting. State Representative Jim Watt, who serves as chairman for the State Road 80 Task Force, anticipates that from this meeting an organized group of governmental and business leaders will emerge for the purpose of four-laning State Road 80," Robert Coker, president of the Clewiston Chamber of Commerce, said.

Among the presidents of area Chambers of Commerce invited are Fort Myers, Fort Myers Beach, Lehigh Acres, Cape Coral, LaBelle, Glades County, Pahokee, and Belle Glade.

For more information, call the Clewiston Chamber of Commerce at 983-7979.

Most of his life has been spent in small towns that make Belle Glade seem large, said Beebe. "I prefer a small town," said Beebe. "I have driven around the area but I don't know it that well. I have learned the streets, though. Once you learn how the (Hillsboro) canal runs, you have it figured out. It's basically an agricultural area. I'm used to that."

Beebe's addition to the city work force completes a two-and-a-half month search that attracted 31 applicants. He was one of three prime applicants, according to Strang.

'Man of LaMancha' slated in Clewiston

"Man of LaMancha," the story of Don Quixote's quest for the impossible dream represents a big step forward for Clewiston Actor's Community Theatre.

"Everything that I had heard indicated that it is a difficult and challenging musical to perform," said director Ed Meszaros. "After we (ACT) had done 'A Lion in Winter,' I thought we could do something considered difficult, and provide an evening people who see the show will remember."

The cast for "Man of LaMancha" includes 37 persons, who have had to learn 18 songs and 328 pages of music in rehearsals which started back in October.

When the curtain goes up for "Man of LaMancha" at 8 p.m. Friday, Jan. 13, at Clewiston's John B. Boy Auditorium, Meszaros believes local residents will be "pleasantly surprised" by the talent which has been assembled on stage.

A second performance is scheduled for Saturday, Jan. 14, at 8 p.m. Tickets are available for any cast member and will also be available at the auditorium the evenings of the performances. Tickets are $4 for adults and $1 for children.

ACT has faithfully reproduced the 1962 Broadway production, including bringing in the original set, designed by Charles H. Stewart, from New York.

The two-act show features a "lot of new talent," Meszaros said. Many of the cast members, all Glades residents, will be singing in public for the first time.

Highlights promise to be the brassy, belting delivery of Nicky Hegley as Aldonza, as well as the voices of Bill Saari as Padre and Lena Parker as Fernina. Saari is the bandmaster for Clewiston High School.

The theme of the musical can be summed up in the song "The Impossible Dream."

In the end, Aldonza sings this song back to Don Quixote as she completes her transformation from a feeling of worthlessness as serving girl at an inn to self worth as the lady that Quixote had envisioned.

"But there is something else. Something almost religious," Meszaros says. "The man who convinces us that we have this personal worth dies because of us and for us...and after his death we literally see his resurrection in youthful form and in the continuity of his conviction. For this play is a Christian play in the purest sense of the word, and Quixote who has remained alive for nearly 400 years touches something in us that makes human existence seem not merely tolerable but endlessly hopeful and filled with love."

Jamaican band to play

BELLE GLADE - The Jamaican Military Band will perform at the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center, Thursday, January 12 at 8 p.m.

The performance to Judy Schiele, center director, members of the Sugar Cane Industry and the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association are responsible for bringing the band to the Glades.

The Jamaica Military Band is the oldest living remnant of the old West India Regiment which was disbanded in 1927 after having served in the armed forces of the empire, according to a release by Schiele.

The music played by the Jamaica Military Band ranges from symphonies to jazz and covers a wide variety of programs. The band will start at 8 p.m. and the tickets are $2.

Eye care month declared

Governor Bob Graham has proclaimed January as Eye Health Care Month in support of a nationwide effort by ophthalmologists (eye physicians) and optometrists to encourage Americans to take action to reduce the high incidence of unnecessary blindness.

According to William Broussard, M.D., of Melbourne, president of the Florida Society of Ophthalmology (FSO), statistics provided by the National Society to Prevent Blindness point up the scope of the problem, and the opportunity to do something about it.

"Nearly 11.5 million persons in the U.S. — one in every 19 — suffer some degree of eye damage," Dr. Broussard said, "and 47,000 Americans become blind each year."

"The National Society to Prevent Blindness estimates that 50% of all blindness can be prevented, and we seek the cooperation of all to reach that goal," he said. The FSO is suggesting a three-point program. Members of the public are urged to prevent eye injuries at work and play by wearing protective glasses.

Support is urged for legislative reforms, including banning the sale of fireworks, making corns more available, and legislation encouraging medical care.

The FSO also urges public awareness of the need to seek early and accurate diagnosis and treatment by an eye specialist (ophthalmologist).

Glades felony arrests

The following felony cases were filed in the Glades by State Attorney David H. Bludworth the week of December 19.

Adeline Alphone, 408 SW B Place, Belle Glade, Florida, conducting a lottery, possession of lottery paraphernalia.

Cecil Abious Hunter, 600 Orange Ave. Circle, Belle Glade, Florida, battery on a corrections officer.

ASL election results

Seven local farmers will be sitting on the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Committees after their election late last year.

Marie L. Sardinha, county executive director of the Palm Beach County ASC committee, announced the results December 21.

Elected to the Belle

Glade committee were James H. Chamblee, who will serve as chairman; Karl Larsen, the vice-chairman; S.C. Pate, regular member and First Alternate J.W. Markham.

Three farmers were elected to the Pahokee committee: Lewis Friend, chairman; William Kennedy, vice-chairman and Dale Erickson, regular member. ASC county and community committees are in charge of local administration of national farm programs such as feed grain, commodity loans and the agricultural conservation program, according to Sardinha.

Agent surrenders license

BELLE GLADE - A Belle Glade woman has surrendered her insurance license after learning of an investigation by the Florida Department of Insurance into her activities as a surety agent and a bail bondsman.

According to the department's December 27 release, Ray M. Collins of 132 Northwest Avenue I in Belle Glade voluntarily executed the License and Qualifications Surrender Agreement and her license was revoked

December 20, 1983. Her voluntary action does not constitute an admission of guilt, according to the release.

The .0001 cent greeting card

My intentions were good. Very good. "Next year," I said to myself, "I'm going to be Little Miss Sunshine. I'm going to greet all birthdays on time. I'm going to shower the convalescents with cheer, brighten the corners where the shut-ins are. I might even get off a few hearty hurrahs for those couples going for the silver, if not the gold, in the marriage olympics."

To succeed in my endeavor I procured a calendar, purchased some stamps and sent away for a boxed assortment of "all occasion" cards so I could become the best all 'round all-occasion greeter of 1984. No forgetting dates. Or to get stamps. And no excuses for not having a card in the house.

Well, if anyone has a sympathy card appropriate for "dismal failures" you might send it along to me. But I don't think I'll find it among your cards for all, or even some, occasions. I didn't find it in mine.

A look at the assortment should tell you what I am up against. Two adult birthdays and two kiddies' cards expressing less heartfelt sentiment than a telephone company reminder that your check hasn't yet been received. Three get-well wishes the invalid "a complete recovery," a tactical way of saying, "Hope you make it." (A really sincere card would say, "I'm so truly sorry that you are ill, you can have the doctor send me the bill.") A card of condolence featuring bright red roses. That one, at least, won't be a total loss. At my age, I like to send friends sympathy cards on their birthdays, or cards reading, "Sorry I forgot your birthday; hope you were able to." And then there is a "happy thoughts" card which I can hold on to until word gets to me that somebody I know is having unhappy thoughts (which can be happyed by a card picturing a beetle on a bicycle with a basket full of blossoms).

Ailsa Dewing
"And What Not"

(Doesn't reading all this remind you of the "card showers" people used to give? Can you imagine life being so uneventful we thought it a fun night out to sit around and read greeting cards about?)

People who care enough to find out if someone sent the very best turn cards over to check out the price. My cards aren't even Avies. They have no prices marked on them and would prove that I'm not even aware to sending the very worst. If the manufacturer's suggested price was disclosed, the back of the cards would read like a state agency brochure: This card was promulgated at a cost of .0001 cent.

Of course, sending even the very second best cards these days requires a modest investment of cash. I think that's why group greeting cards are so popular. We got together because we're thrifty. Nobody wanted to cough up a dollar fifty.

Well, so much for my good intentions. I have the stamps and the calendar but I'll still have to remember to pop out to buy a card. I know it's the thought that counts. And I'd rather be thought of as thoughtless than tasteless.

Boiler Plate

Jim Jones

Eating my words about Miami

For those of you with long memories, what I'm about to say will sound ironic.

It was exactly one year ago, Jan. 5, 1983, to be exact, that the infamous "The Union Should Allow Miami to secede" Boiler Plate appeared.

Due to all of Miami's problems I suggested that we "just saw it right off and let it join the Bahamas."

Reaction to that column was strong. Some were for it and some were against it. As recently as December I had someone lecture me on why I shouldn't write bad things about Miami.

As of Monday night, Jan. 2, 1984, I take it all back. The reason: The University of Miami's 31-30 win over previously number-one ranked and undefeated Nebraska, "the best team ever" as declared by the national media and others who determine such things.

In winning this game, Miami showed that it has "the" university of Florida.

The Hurricanes crept up on the rest of the country with the best team in the nation and Howard Schnellenberger staked his claim as best coach in the land.

Football championship hungry Florida fans, who had always placed their bets on the Gators or the Seminoles, got their title from a totally unexpected quarter.

Anyone who saw the game couldn't help but be thrilled from start to finish.

Prior to Monday's game, I had always considered the 1965 Orange Bowl game the greatest one I had ever seen. That was one in which a gimpy Joe Namath came off the bench for Alabama and filled the air with spirals to nearly lead the Red Tide to a come-from-behind victory over Texas before losing 21-17.

Monday night's game tops even that. It's interesting that Namath was on hand for Orange Bowl '84. We can't help wondering how great Miami quarterback Bernie Kosar will be in the future.

For now, the freshman sensation has done quite enough. Just ask Nebraska.

And for the record, I'm glad that the United States government didn't take my advice and saw Miami off.

I'm not sure the folks in Freeport would know what to do with a national championship football team.

in the touring that they don't realize until later how much of an experience it was.

The rewards are getting to know the cast members, receiving applause from an appreciative audience, and meeting new host families.

"You have to adjust to each family. Some families want to do everything for you while others try to make you part of the family," said Bush.

Cast members often receive notes from host families saying how much they enjoyed the experience, but as Bush notes, "We should be saying thank you because we get so much out of it."

The magic of the music is the central thing, however, and when the group goes into a mental institution or nursing home, they see that "Music can really touch people."

Recalling the early days of 'Up With People'

Clewiston resident Jeanie Powell was an "Up With People" cast member in 1966 and 1967, or as she says, "back in the days of the dinosaurs."

"Up With People was a novel idea in the summer of 1965, when the fabric of American society seemed to be unraveling due to the war in Southeast Asia and race riots on the streets of home."

"This was a time when it was down with this and that," she says.

Up With People attempted to address the positive side of life and bring a joyous note into lives which sometimes were all too dark; hence the name "Up With People."

"It was more of a musical demonstration than a show," said Powell, 34. In the 1960s, a demonstration usually took the form of a sit-in or a rally.

Powell joined Up With people shortly after graduating from high school in Bradenton in 1966. "I went to a conference for two weeks and it was two years before I got home," she recalls.

"It was a real difficult time and a whole different generation. We were affected by the Kennedys," she said, referring to the attitude that youth could change the world for the better.

The belief in the ideal of Up With People took real courage on the part of draft-age young men, who risked losing their draft deferment to tour with the group, rather than staying in college.

It was an ideal that appealed to a wide variety of young people, however, and among Powell's 1960s Up With People contemporaries were Kenyan president Jomo Kenyatta's nephew and Glenn Close, star of the "Big Chill" and "The World According to Garp."

"We were more involved wanting to see the world become a better place," she said.

There are some notable differences between Up With People in the 1960s and in the 1980s. Back then, everything was new and the majority of songs were composed by cast members. Today, Up With People depends less on original songs and more on familiar standards, performed with the same zest and spirit.

Technologically, the state of the art has improved and equipment that use to fill a tractor trailer now fits in a much smaller space.

In the 1960s, up to 500 people took the stage for an Up With People concert, compared to less than 200 today.

"It's a real special kind of experience. You have to learn to work together with people from all over. There is a tremendous amount of work and a special camaraderie between cast members," she said.

Concerts in each community provided a new set of challenges, not the least of which was overcoming the language barrier between cast members.

It's the people—seeing the people as they really are

JEANIE POWELL

There might be cast members from 12 different countries working together in the kitchen preparing supper for 2,000 people. "We had a real United Nations," she said.

Up With People is the whole world. But it's not just traveling and seeing the sights. It's the people—seeing the people as they really are," she said.

Starting in Douglas, Wyoming, Powell's group visited all but eight states, as well as Canada, Panama, Japan, Korea, Germany and Spain.

While in Panama the group "went into the boonocks," trying to reach the native Panamanians, and even experienced an earthquake in the process. "It's like you're standing on a table that someone is shaking," she said.

Her cast also performed at Carnegie Hall, all of the service academies, and many military installations, which provided some of the most enthusiastic audiences anywhere.

Up With People visited Clewiston in February of 1967.

"They loved it, absolutely loved it," Powell says of the cast's reception at Clewiston High School, despite the temporary loss of the group's musical equipment.

Up With People's equipment van took a wrong turn enroute to CHS and the group ended up performing with two acoustic guitars and one microphone.

Powell also recalls being taken on a tour of the Clewiston sugar house by United States Sugar Corp.'s Bob Lee.

After Powell's two years on the road, she left the cast and returned to Bradenton. She enrolled in Manatee Junior College and then went on to the University of Florida.

The biggest lesson in life, she learned, came from her Up With People experience: "There isn't anything you can't do if you want to."

Festival of Praise set Friday

The Spurlows, a nationally known musical group, will appear at John Boy Auditorium on Friday, Jan. 6. The concert will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Over the past 23 years The Spurlows have produced high quality music in the form of 10 albums with Word, Inc. over 300 choral books for churches, concerts with Youth for Christ, Jesus Festivals, Billy Graham programs, and have ministered in thousands of churches all across America.

More recently, they have become a part of a new concept called Festival of Praise, a musical of praise and worship involving a 40-voice traveling choir.

Organized by Thurlow Spurr, internationally known

PTL Television Network.

The Spurlows appeal to all ages. Their message is as timeless as the Word of God. They have been seen many times on national television specials such as the Bob Hope Show and their own award-winning Christmas Special. They have appeared in a full-length motion picture, in over 500 national conventions, and in world premiers of four musicals. Twice they have had the distinction of being the invited guests of the President of the United States at the White House. They have performed for more high school and college students than any group in recent history.

They have long been recognized as innovators in Gospel music.

Concerts in each community provided a new set of challenges, not the least of which was overcoming the language barrier between cast members.

New doctor joins staff at Glades General, 1 leaves

BELLE GLADE—Dr. William F. Carter, an obstetrician and gynecologist, has joined the staff at Glades General Hospital, replacing Dr. Michael J. Holeman as staff physician, who left this past week.

Holeman was presented a plaque Wednesday, December 28 from the National Health Service Corps (NHSC) in recognition of the services he had provided to the people served by the Florida Community Health Centers in Belle Glade.

Holeman received the plaque for the services he had rendered in helping out at the hospital's birthing center last summer and again in December 1983 when other obstetricians left the facility unexpectedly. "When I took this position, I think I bit off a little more than I thought," Holeman said, "but it's been rewarding."

Hospital Corporate Director Fred Diaz and Corporate President Fred Sikes presented the plaque to Holeman along with a letter of commendation from Dr. Kenneth P. Moritugu, director of the NHSC in Rockville, Maryland. "Dr. Holeman filled in the breach when we were in desperate straights," said Diaz. He said Holeman's "willingness to help out when the chips were down."

Holeman served as an obstetrician for two years with the NHSC but said he plans to change his specialty to neurosurgery.

He said he plans to return to his home in Newport Beach, California for a while and look over his job options.

Carter started Monday, January 2 at Glades General Hospital. Hospital Administrator Patrick Lennon said Carter will work in conjunction with the hospital's birthing center.

Lennon said the new birthing center (which is due to be completed in March) offers a low-cost, low-risk maternity care program complemented by in-hospital intensive care available to high risk patients.

The birthing center has been in operation at the hospital for 18 months and has drawn patients from Palm Beach, Glades, Hendry, Okeechobee and Martin counties, according to Diaz.

Diaz said the new birthing center will complement an "at-home atmosphere" that will feature a laundry room and kitchen where family members can cook their own food.

January is blood donor month

As a means of emphasizing the need for blood during January, which is often a time of severe blood shortages, this month has been declared National Volunteer Blood Donor Month by President Reagan and Dr. Denton Cooley, world-famous heart surgeon, has been named National Blood Donor Chairman by the American Association of Blood Banks.

During the past five years alone the need for blood in Palm Beach, Martin, Hendry and Okeechobee counties has increased 100 percent because of the population growth. Thus, more than 60,000 units (pints) are needed annually just to stay even with the demand. The sole source of that supply is the Palm Beach Blood Bank — a non-profit organization that depends totally on volunteer donors to meet the need.

Volunteer Blood Donor Month was first instituted in 1971 by the American Association of Blood Banks (AABB) to help alleviate the chronic blood shortages which occur after the holidays. The presidential declaration has been issued annually since that time, and each year the AABB creates a new theme to help publicize the need for blood. This year's theme is "Share your good health. Give by blood." Dr. Cooley has made public service announcements using this theme and encouraging the public to give so that others may live. There is no substitute for human blood, the only source being the willingness of one human being to give for another. Throughout the nation, more than 30,000 pints of blood are required each and every day, and the need is constantly increasing as new lifesaving surgical techniques are perfected. Without today's blood donors, a team of the world's finest surgeons couldn't save the life of a single patient requiring blood.

Taxpayers receive packets

More than 4.5 million Florida Taxpayers will soon be receiving their federal income tax packages, according to Merlin W. Heye, Internal Revenue Service district director for Florida.

Taxpayers will receive either form 1040, or form 1040 EZ and 1040A package, depending on which form was filed last year.

The 1040EZ, containing only 11 lines to complete, is designed for single taxpayers who have no dependents, with a taxable income of less than $50,000, and no more than $400 in interest.

The 1040A form may be used by anyone with taxable income of less than $50,000 in wages, salaries, tips, unemployment compensation, interest or dividends. Two new lines have been added to this form for payments to an Individual Retirement Account and the Credit for Child or Dependent Care Expenses.

Generally, as in previous years, form 1040 is for those taxpayers who itemize deductions or claim such tax credits as residential energy credit, investment credit and credit for the elderly.

Since filing their tax forms last year, some Floridians may have had a change in their tax status and need a different form than that received in the mail.

Federal forms and schedules are available at most post offices, many banks and some public libraries. The most convenient way to obtain additional forms is by using the order blank in the tax forms package, or by calling the IRS toll-free tax forms number, 1-800-241-3860.

The tax forms package received in the mail has a pre-addressed, peel-off label and a large, pre-addressed envelope which is useful to the taxpayer and to the IRS.

Each tax forms package contains complete instructions on the preparation of the form in the package. If additional information is needed on credits, deductions, exemptions or income, the IRS offers many free publications on these subjects.

There have been a number of changes to the forms this year because of recent tax legislation. Beginning in 1983, taxpayers can only deduct medical and dental expenses that are more than five percent of their adjusted gross income. Taxpayers can claim a deduction for non-business casualty and theft losses only if the total of the losses is more than ten percent of adjusted gross income.

Jamaican military band to perform

The members of the Florida Sugar Cane League and the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Growers are bringing the Jamaican Military Band to the Glades on Jan. 12. The performance will be at 8 p.m. at the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center. Tickets are $2.

The band is the oldest living remnant of the old West India Regiment which was disbanded in 1927 after having served in the armed forces of the Empire with distinction over a period of nearly 150 years. It was not without vision that a number of bandmen were selected to form the nucleus of the present Jamaica Military Band. Permission was granted by the Imperial Government for this group to retain the uniform of the regiment.

A word about the uniform would not be amiss at this point. At a review of French Colonial troops, Queen Victoria was so impressed by the splendor of the uniforms of the Zouaves that she insisted on introducing it into her Army. In 1856 the brilliant ceremonial Zouave uniform was thereof allotted to the 2nd Battalion of the West India Regiment, the only regular British Colonial Regiment in existence at that time, and which had been raised in St. Vincent, British West Indies, in 1795 as Myers' Regiment of Foot. The St. Vincent Rangers uniform continued to be the official uniform of the Jamaica Military Band, which was formed after the disbanding of the regiment.

In 1927 when the Jamaica Military Band was formed, it was decided that it would operate on a semi-military basis which would give to the public the opportunity of associating itself with the main musical institution in the island. Such a status continued until 1959 when it was decided to give full civilian status to the band, thereby establishing it as a corporate body under the Ministry of Home Affairs. But, with the advent of independence for Jamaica in August 1962, the band became a part of the Jamaica Defence Force.

Motivation of faith for the modern Christian

Dr. David T. Evans

Everglades
Presbyterian Church

In the best of circumstances the Christian life is hard. The Apostle Paul calls on us to lead a life worthy of our calling in Christ.

Paul knew the necessity of stimulations to live the kind of life Christians should. He followed his plea with a roll call of motivations.

The first one falls under the motivations of Church fellowship. There can be no true relationship with Christ and fellow believers outside the church.

You cannot understand family life if you are not a member of a family. You will have the same difficulty understanding Jesus Christ, the Holy Spirit, and the Christian Life apart from a living relationship with other people in the Church.

The basic motivations for the fellowship are humility, gentleness, and patience. Humility is vital and sets the stage for the others. Understanding humility is based on self knowledge. Bernard said, "Humility is the virtue by which a man becomes conscious of his own unworthiness, in consequence of the true knowledge of himself." Most of us put ourselves at the center of our existence.

Humility comes when we know our weaknesses, our selfishness, our failure in work and in personal relationships. Proper evaluation comes only when we set our lives alongside Christ and what God demands of us. Christ must be the standard of our lives and then there is no room for pride.

Meekness comes from leading a God-controlled life. (Here is the same word used by our Lord in the Beatitudes.) We are not to get angry at the wrong time but get angry at the right time. The fellowship ought to be made up of God's gentlemen.

Patience or long suffering means enduring to the end. Today the hardest thing we do is stick to something to the end. The way we can do this is to depend on God, whose patience waits and loves. We must refuse to retaliate or take vengeance, but leave it to God.

Humility, meekness, and patience can only be accomplished in love. As always the love of God must be the underlying quality.

Second, we find the motivation of unity. The oneness of Christianity ought to be emphasized rather than its divisions. Paul says there is one body, one spirit, one hope, one Lord, one faith, and one baptism, and one God and Father of us all.

With all this unifying force we can only be drawn together. However, unless we meet these conditions all else is meaningless.

The one body is the Church and Christ is the head. Neither the head nor the body can work effectively without the other. The oneness of the church is essential for the work of Christ. Our oneness if founded in common love of Christ and of every part for the other.

The one spirit is necessary. The spirit is the living principle which controls all the body. He guides, directs, and keeps it alive. Without the spirit there can be no church. We must wait on, and work with and through this one spirit.

The one hope is our calling. We must head toward the same goal.

Augustine said, "The only thing which effectually unites men is the common desire for the same ends."

The goal is the redemption of the world in Christ.

The one Lord means we accept Christ as the Lord of our lives. He must be both our Master and our King. Only as we accept Christ as Lord are we truly united.

The one faith must be based on the above. Only as we completely trust in and surrender to Christ does unity become a reality. Which brings us to the one baptism. Our baptism is based on the confession of love of Jesus Christ and dependence on Him for our salvation. Christianity is based on the personal relationship of Father and child. The Christian concept of God begins with love and in an intimate family relationship and trust.

Finally, we are motivated by the diversity of Christ's gifts to us. In the Old Testament God demanded gifts. In the New Testament God gives. God gives us love in Jesus Christ. He also gives us different gifts so that we can complete and complement each others.

God has given us the Good News in Christ and all of us by using our various gifts carry out His mission.

The motivations are adequate if we depend on the Holy Spirit, the Bible, and the Church. The success rests on the exercise of gifts and the participation in the fellowship of Jesus Christ.

Farm disaster loans are available

Farmers in Palm Beach and Broward counties who were ineligible for financial assistance from the Farmers Home Administration as a result of excessive rainfall January through March 1983 may be eligible for assistance from the U.S. Small Business Administration.

"Under new legislation signed by President Reagan in November, SBA has been directed to provide financial assistance to farmers who suffered crop and/or livestock damage as a result of a disaster beginning between January 1, 1983, and September 30, 1983," said John L. Carey, SBA's Miami District Director.

The FmHA declared Palm Beach and Broward a disaster area September 7, 1983, as a result of excessive rainfall.

Carey cautioned, however, that only those farmers who did not receive assistance from FmHA due to ineligibility reasons and have a letter of referral from FmHA are able to apply to

"Only those farmers who, by reason of their status as aliens, corporation, partnerships and cooperatives not primarily engaged in agriculture, absentee landlords, or similar reasons, are eligible to apply to SBA," said Carey.

"Farmers who were declined by FmHA for credit reasons are not eligible to apply," Carey said.

SBA disaster loans to farmers are limited by law to 85 percent of the cost of repairing or replacing the damaged property, and may not exceed $500,000.

Carey said the interest rate to be charged will be either 11 percent or 8 percent, depending upon the individual applicant's ability to recover from the disaster without federal assistance.

If the loan is made at the 11 percent rate, the maximum maturity allowed by law is three years. If the loan is made at the 8 percent rate, the maximum maturity may be up to 30 years, Carey said.

Applications for SBA disaster loans must be filed by the close of business on February 13, 1984.

Hooker graduates

BELLE GLADE -- Monica Gay Hooker of Belle Glade graduated from Clemson University in South Carolina with a degree in Education Tuesday, December 20.

She joined 708

graduates at the winter commencement exercises.

Clemson President Bill Atchley conferred 537 bachelor's, 150 master's and 20 doctoral degrees in the ceremonies.

Group to meet

BELLE GLADE -- There will be a Chapter I: Basic and Migrant Programs Districtwide Parent Council meeting at Gove Elementary School's media center at 900

Southeast Avenue G in Belle Glade Wednesday, January 18 at 7:15 p.m.

The meeting is open to all parents and interested residents.

Swager makes team

Tommy Swager, a 6-4, 210-pound post player from Belle Glade, is a member of the 1983-84 Maryville College Fighting Scots basketball team.

A junior majoring in political science, Swager is the son of Tom Sr. and Gloria Swager, Southeast Seventh Street in Belle Glade. He is a graduate of Glades Day School.

Maryville College is a private, four-year liberal arts college in Tennessee and is affiliated with the Presbyterian Church.

Service note

Army Spec. 4 Ernest L. Dorsey, grandson of Eula K. Dorsey of 213 Shirley Drive, Pahokee, has participated in Ahuas Tara (Big Pine) II, an exercise involving U.S. and Latin American forces in Honduras.

According to Pentagon officials, the exercise tested plans and procedures for operations, command and control of joint operations with the armed forces of nations in the Caribbean basin and Central America. The exercise also demonstrated the deployment and sustainment capability of U.S. forces to unfamiliar terrain.

Big Pine II is the latest in a series of combined exercises that began in 1965.

Dorsey is a communications specialist with the 3rd Battalion, 319th Field Artillery at Fort Campbell, Ky.

He is a 1981 graduate of Pahokee Junior-Senior High School.

Harris-Dean exchange vows in double ring ceremony

BELLE GLADE — Monica Harris and Thomas Dean exchanged vows in a double ring ceremony November 11 at the Community United Methodist Church in Belle Glade.

The groom is the son of Carl and Barbara Dean, also of Belle Glade.

Rev. Harry Russell officiated at the ceremony. Nuptial music was presented by Carol Schmidt and Karen Corbin.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a princess style gown of satin featuring a jewel neckline, sheer yolk and long tapered sleeves of chantilly lace.

Her gown was highlighted with a front panel of matching lace and seed pearls. The full skirt fell to a chapel length train and was accented with a satin fabric sash at the hipline.

The bride's headpiece was a circular wreath of chantilly lace flowers and seed pearls holding two tiers of cathedral length bridal illusions with pencil edging.

Her bouquet was a cascade of white orchids, stephanies and satin swirls backed with variegated flowers.

Michelle Cunningham, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Bobbi Love Markham, Johna Graves, Janie Sims and Kelli Woodham.

Wendi Kay Cunningham, niece of the bride, was the flower girl.

They wore gowns of teal taffeta with puffed sleeves ruffled at the shoulders. Tied belts accented the waistlines above the flowing skirts.

Each carried bouquets of oriental flowers cascading with arrangements.

Mrs. Harris, mother of the bride, wore a cranberry gown and the bridegroom's mother was gowned in blue. Their were orchid corsages.

Ray Mills served as the best man. Ushers were Mike Burkett, Steve French and Ben Bussey.

Junior usher was John David Meeds. Thomas Michael Meeks served as ring bearer. Both are nephews of the groom.

The choir loft was banked with palms with 15 branch arched candelabra garlanded with smilax.

The main altar was centered with large fan arrangements of all white gladiolas, fuji mums and large mums.

The unity candelabra was placed on the right side of pews so each mother could light the outside candle in honor of their children being united in marriage.

White satin bows marked the family pews and the aisle runner was pulled by the groom's nephew, John David Meeks.

A reception followed the wedding at the Belle Glade Elks Club.

A 24 foot table was centered with large arrangements of gladiolas, enchantment lilies and carnations. A three foot brass candelabra holding 18 candles in each garlanded the smilax and enchantment lilies.

The guest tables each had arrangements of gladiolas, enchantment lilies and carnations. The stage was banked with palms and the band, Night and Day, played throughout the evening.

The wedding cake was on a round table in front of the bandstand and after the wedding party was introduced, the table was rolled to the back of the room and the cake was served by Kim Cressman and Louise Herring.

The cake was topped with white orchids. Sprays of white orchids and lilies with garlands of smilax draped three of the tieres.

The fountain was topped with arrangements the same as the wedding cake and the punch table was garlanded with smilax and enchant-

Thomas and Monica Dean

ment lilies.

For the reception, Barbie Dean was in charge of the bride's book.

Out of town guest attending the wedding were Lottie Broome, Ozark, Alabama; Mr. and Mrs. Jaye Bedsole, Homestead; Mary Kaleet, Tom Pavia; Cindy Llye; Laurie Flynn; Bob Schench; Chris Hayden; Lana Braddy and Theresa Wheeler of Grenelee; Mrs. Tommy Harrison,

Lake Wales; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Caldwell, Lake Wales; Margine Hair, Lake Wales; Jose Cano, Miami; Robbie Parrish; Mr. and Mrs. Mareros Baker and Marvin Jr. from Homestead; Mr. and Mrs. Tony Gunter, Homestead; Mrs. Libby Parrish of Boca Raton; Mr. and Mrs. Gary Stafford; Mr. and Mrs. David Paul of Vero Beach; Leigh McHenry, Boca Raton; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Moring and Yelonda, Indiantown; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rashley, Okeechobee; Mr. and Mrs. Sid Ciruthebs, Tampa; Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Fetsenden, Leesburg; Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Harris, West Palm Beach; and Mr. and Mrs. Pablo Rodriguez, West Palm Beach.

Following a wedding trip to San Francisco, California, the couple are now residing in Lake Wales.

Trett-Heninger to be wed

BELLE GLADE — Mrs. Katherine Trett announces the engagement and upcoming marriage of her daughter Lola Ann Trett to Charles Heninger.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Glades Central High School and is presently employed at Dr. Ray Behn's Office, D.D.S.

The groom-elect is a graduate of Palm Beach High. He attended Palm Beach Junior College and is currently employed with United Telephone Company in Okeechobee.

There ceremony is scheduled for February 10 at 7 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church in Pahokee.

No local invitations are being sent. All friends and relatives of the couple are invited to attend.

Club has annual luncheon

CHOSEN — The Chosen Garden Club members had their annual Christmas luncheon December 21 at the home of Marie Schoenfeld.

The luncheon was followed by a short business meeting presided over by President Sally Teague.

Program Chairman Marie Schoenfeld directed the traditional gift exchange game while a musical Santa played Christmas carols.

Members present were Teague, Schoenfeld, Ruby Kirk, Mattie Cowart, Aleese Lane, Madeleine Martin, Clara Bedsole, Ruth Ingram, Margaret West, Katherine Schroepe, Hazel Litchfield, Abby Zumpf and guests Ruth West, Caroline Priest, Margaret Russell, Carolyn Merideth, Nan Drape and Sandra Dulany.

Babb to be guest speaker

The Division of Senior Services West Area Supervisor Keith Babb will be the guest speaker at the Community Services meeting Wednesday, January 11 at 12:30 p.m. in the Glades office building.

Autrie Williams,

East Coast Migrant Headstart project director, will also speak.

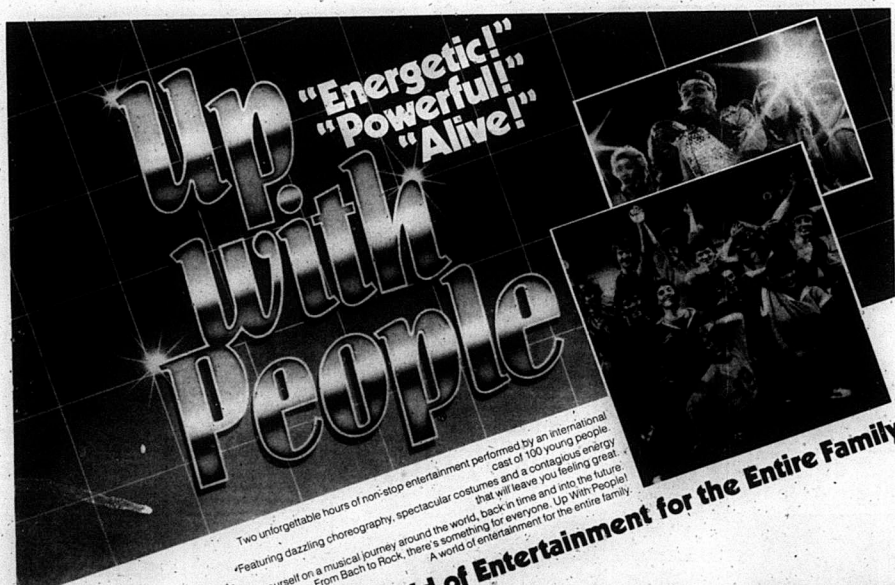

Babb will speak on the needs and services provided by Palm Beach County for west area senior citizens.

Williams will talk about the program and

offerings for migrant children and the need for expansion.

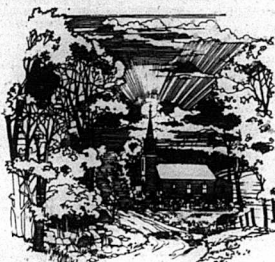

It will be the service's first meeting of 1984.

For more information, call the Division of Human Services of the Department of Community Services at 996-1630.

Harris-Dean exchange vows in double ring ceremony

BELLE GLADE -- Monica Harris and Thomas Dean exchanged vows in a double ring ceremony November 11 at the Community United Methodist Church in Belle Glade.

The bride is the daughter of Kenneth W. and Janice Harris of Belle Glade. The groom is the son of Carl and Barbara Dean, also of Belle Glade.

Rev. Harry Russell officiated at the ceremony. Nuptial music was presented by Carol Schmidt and Karen Corbin.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a princess style gown of satin featuring a jewel neckline, sheer yolk and long tapered sleeves of chantilly lace.

Her gown was highlighted with a front panel of matching lace and seed pearls. The full skirt fell to a chapel length train and was accented with a satin fabric sash at the hipline.

The bride's headpiece was a circular wreath of chantilly lace flowers and seed pearls holding two tiers of cathedral length bridal illusions with pencil edging.

Her bouquet was a cascade of white orchids, stephanies and satin swirls backed with variegated flowers.

Michelle Cunningham, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Bobbi Love Markham, Johnna Graves, Janie Sims and Kelli Woodham.

Wendi Kay Cunningham, niece of the bride, was the flower girl.

They wore gowns of teal taffeta with puffed sleeves ruffled at the shoulders. Tied belts accented the waistlines above the flowing skirts.

Each carried bouquets of oriental flowers cascading with arrangements.

Mrs. Harris, mother of the bride, wore a cranberry gown and the bridegroom's mother was gowned in blue. Their were orchid corsages.

Ray Mills served as the best man. Ushers were Mike Burkett, Steve French and Ben Bussey.

Junior usher was John David Meeds.

Thomas Michael Meeks served as ring bearer. Both are nephews of the groom.

The choir loft was banked with palms and with 15 branch arched candelabra garlanded with smilax.

The main altar was centered with large fan arrangements of all white gladiolas, fuchsia mums and large mums.

The unity candelabra was placed on the right side of pews so each mother could light the outside candle in honor of their children being united in marriage.

White satin bows marked the family pews and the aisle runner was pulled by the groom's nephew, John David Meeks.

A reception followed the wedding at the Belle Glade Elks Club.

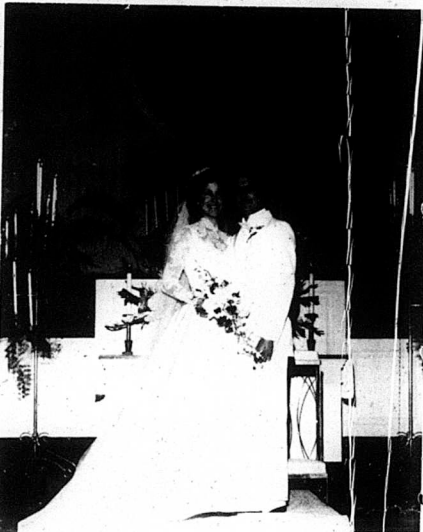

A 24 foot table was centered with large arrangements of gladiolas, enchantment lilies and carnations. A three foot brass candelabra holding 13 candles in each garlanded the smilax and enchantment lilies.

The guest tables each had arrangements of gladiolas, enchantment lilies and carnations. The stage was banked with palms and the band, Night and Day, played throughout the evening.

The wedding cake was on a round table in front of the bandstand and after the wedding party was introduced, the table was rolled to the back of the room and the cake was served by Kim Cressman and Louise Herring.

The cake was topped with white orchids. Sprays of white orchids and lilies with garlands of smilax draped three of the three tiers.

The fountain was topped with arrangements the same as the wedding cake and the punch table was garlanded with smilax and enchant-

ment lilies.

For the reception, Barbie Dean was in charge of the bride's book.

Out of town guest attending the wedding were Lottie Broome, Ozark, Alabama; Mr. and Mrs. Jaye Bedsole, Homestead; Mary Kaleel; Tom Pavda; Cindy Liye; Laurie Flynn; Bob Schench; Chris Hayden; Lana Brady and Theresa Wheeler of Grondelle; Mrs. Tommy Harrison,

Lake Wales; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Caldwell, Lake Wales; Margine Hair, Lake Wales; Jose Cano, Miami; Robbie Parrish; Mr. and Mrs. Mareros Baker and Marvin Jr. from Homestead; Mr. and Mrs. Tony Gunter, Homestead; Mrs. Libby Parrish of Boca Raton; Mr. and Mrs. Gary Stafford; Mr. and Mrs. David Paul of Vero Beach; Leigh McHenry, Boca Raton; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Moring and Yolanda, Indiantown; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rashlay, Okeechobee; Mr. and Mrs. Sid Ciruthers, Tampa; Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Feisenden, Leesburg; Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Harris, West Palm Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Pablo Rodriguez, West Palm Beach. Following a wedding trip to San Francisco, California, the couple are now residing in Lake Wales.

Trett-Heninger to be wed

BELLE GLADE -- Mrs. Katherine Trett announces the engagement and upcoming marriage of her daughter Lola Ann Trett to Charles Heninger.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Glades Central High School and is presently employed at Dr. Ray Behm's Office, D.D.S.

The groom-elect is a graduate of Palm Beach High. He attended Palm Beach Junior College and is currently employed with United Telephone Company in Okeechobee. There ceremony is scheduled for February 10 at 7 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church in Pahokee.

No local invitations are being sent. All friends and relatives of the couple are invited to attend.

Club has annual luncheon

CHOSEN -- The Chosen Garden Club members had their annual Christmas luncheon December 21 at the home of Marie Schoenfeld.

The luncheon was followed by a short business meeting presided over by President Sally Teague.

Program Chairman Marie Schoenfeld directed the traditional gift exchange game while a musical Santa played Christmas carols.

Members present were Teague, Schoenfeld, Ruby Kirk, Mattie Cowart, Alecc Lane, Madeleine Martin, Clara Bedsole, Ruth Ingram, Margaret West, Katherine Schroepe, Hazel Litchfield, Abby Zumpf and guests Ruth West, Caroline Priest, Margaret Russell, Carolyn Merideth, Nan Drea and Sandra Dulany.

Babb to be guest speaker

The Division of Senior Services West Area Supervisor Keith Babb will be the guest speaker at the Community Services meeting Wednesday, January 11 at 12:30 p.m. in the Glades office building.

Autrie Williams,

East Coast Migrant Headstart project director, will also speak.

Babb will speak on the needs and services provided by Palm Beach County for west area senior citizens.

Williams will talk about the program and

offerings for migrant children and the need for expansion.

It will be the service's first meeting of 1984.

For more information, call the Division of Human Services of the Department of Community Services at 996-1630.

Steve Smith and Brenda Lakatos

Lakatos-Smith engaged

BELLE GLADE - Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lakatos of Belle Glade announce the engagement of their daughter, Brenda, to Steve Smith of Clewiston.

The groom-elect is the son of Marjorie Smith of Clewiston and the late W.W. Smith. He is a 1979 graduate of Christian Day School.

The bride-elect is a 1980 graduate of Glades Day School. The couple is planning an April wedding.

King's observance slated

BELLE GLADE - A local organization is planning a memorial service and parade to honor the late Martin Luther King, Jr. Saturday, January 14.

The parade will start at 10 a.m. on North Fourth Street beside Glades Central Community High School.

Howard Gary will speak. Both events are sponsored by the Xi Rho Lambda chapter of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc. More information is available from James Allen, Jr., the chairman of the observance, at 996-6418 after 4 p.m.

Obituary

She was a native of Warren County, Oregon, and came to Belle Glade in 1916 from Texas. Betzner was a charter member of the Community United Methodist Church in Belle Glade. She was a member of the Belle Glade Country Club and a former member of the Order of the Easter Star, No. 197, in Belle Glade.

Survivors include one son, Charles Betzner of Belle Glade; three daughters, Caroline Farrell of Alexandria, Virginia, Glenna Moore of Bradenton, and Dorothy McEaddy of Belle Glade; one brother, Carl Lockmiller of Belle Glade; 10 grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

Funeral services were at the Mixson Funeral Chapel January 5 at 11 a.m. with the Rev. Harry Russell, pastor of the Community United Methodist Church, officiating. Pallbearers for Betzner included David Motes, August Kirshman, Nelson Nels, Eddie Schoepel, Ralph Kirk and Joe Murphy. Interment followed Glades Central Cemetery in the family plot in LaBelle. Mixson Funeral Home in Belle Glade was in charge of arrangements.

Classes being offered

West Tech and the Community School of Glades Central Community High School will offer jointly a Commercial Art and Advertising class beginning January 24. Students will learn how to letter signs for advertising and poster work and also develop vocational skills in fashion design. Classes meet on Tuesday and Thursday evenings for nine weeks. Call the Community School Office at 996-4950 for more information.

WSWN to affiliate with satellite music network

Grag Archer, program director of WSWN FM 93, announced today his station's affiliation with the Satellite Music Network. When the station signs on with the network soon, FM 93 will be come the first station in the area to carry country programming received live via satellite.

The major difference our listeners will notice," said Archer, "is that the music will sound brighter and clearer as a result of the satellite transmission. We'll also be adding a whole new lineup of weekend country music specials, in addition to our regular programming."

When FM 93 begins broadcasting the signal, it will be carrying music live from network studios in Chicago. From there, the music is beamed up to a satellite 22,300 miles in space. From the satellite, the signal is beamed back to radio stations all across America.

CREDIT PROBLEMS?

If your loan application to purchase a new or used car was turned down by the Bank or other lending institution, The Stevarts may have used them for you. For a limited time, we have over $290 million dollars available for auto loans. Credit requirements are more liberal than what you've probably experienced. Terms are longer, and new down payment is necessary. Interest is well below prime lending rates charged by most banks.

Call now and drive home today in a new Pontiac, Toyota, Mazda, Fiat or Peugeot. Call for an appointment or come in. Ask for Mr. Foster, Special Fund Finance Manager.
